In 1989, a small group of parents and community leaders led by former board president, Jerry Matranga formed PACE, which at that time encompassed two group homes and a school serving children and adults with autism. These parents, educators, and volunteers recognized the growing, unmet need to provide education and care for children and adults with autism and related developmental disabilities and their families. Their dedication and concern has inspired staff and their families. Their dedication and inspiration have paved the way for the growth and development of the organization.

Similarly, the SPARK Foundation first began in 1984 when a group of parents recognized that there was a lack of services for their disabled children. These parents, Sheila Dermer, Mary Flanagan-Hanson, Maxine Richards, and Linda Urquhart, found that the availability of residential housing for their sons was nearly nonexistent. They were inspired to provide residential services and related training for adults with autism. Children’s Program Update

by Danielle Borras, OTR/L, CVE

W e’re making some changes at Sunny Days Preschool! Rebecca Bright, Clinical Manager will be overseeing the team with Special Education Teacher, Jessica Solchenberger, M.A. Morning preschool, speech and language therapy, behavior therapy, social skills, social groups, music therapy, and occupational therapy services are offered on site.

We are very excited about a new fun and dynamic program offering a social skills class for 3-6 year olds. This program is led by a licensed therapist and specifically designed to provide each student with the opportunity to develop their awareness, understand social skills, and develop skills to make our organization possible. Our annual Gala is the perfect venue to take note of our past 25 years of growth and service, and we’ll also be celebrating the inspiring work of our founders and the SPARK Foundation and their commitment to the PACE community.

Please join us at the PACE Gala and Auction on October 25th, at the Computer History Museum in Mountain View. We’ll celebrate our founders with live music, delicious food from Grace Street Catering, raffle prizes, drinks, and live and silent auctions! All proceeds raised from this event will directly benefit PACE programs and services. Help us to continue last year’s trend by raising over $100,000.

We hope to see you at this wonderful event as we thank all those who have helped PACE to thrive over the past 25 years.

Ask a Therapist

by Rebecca Bright, BCBA, MFT, Clinical Manager

Q. There are so many acronyms among service providers in the world of autism! Can you help me sort them out?

A. Great question! Let’s look at some of the common service providers.

Note: All of these positions require a qualifying degree (level varies), supervised experience, and ongoing training (continuing education credits). The fully licensed or certified positions all require completed supervised fieldwork and successful passing of an examination.

A BCBA, or Board Certified Behavior Analyst, is an international certification offered by the Behavior Analyst Certification Board, and means that the person holds a Master’s degree in a related field and has completed specific Master’s level courses in behavior analysis. A Board Certified Assistant Behavior Analyst (BCaBA) has a Bachelor’s degree and specific undergraduate coursework in the field of behavior analysis. A BCaBA must work under the supervision of a BCBA but is qualified to provide many of the same services. Some states (but not CA) have begun licensing and regulating behavior analysts in a separate process. A BCBA-D is a doctor-level behavior analyst. The ABCB has recently introduced a certification for direct service providers, to be known as Registered Behavior Technicians™ (RBTs) for entry-level therapists.

Other therapists who may be qualified to oversee autism treatment plans include Licensed Marriage and Family Therapists, Licensed Clinical Social workers, and Licensed Psychologists who have experience and training in the areas of behavior analysis and developmental delays. These professionals have Master’s degrees in psychology, counseling, or social work. Marriage and Family Therapy Interns (MFTIs) and Associate Clinical Social Workers (ASWs) are working under the supervision of licensed professionals while they pursue licensure.

Occupational Therapists (OTs) are licensed by the state and work on a wide variety of motor skills with the goal of increasing functional living skills. OTAs (OT Assistants) have completed at least an Associate’s Degree.

Speech-Language Pathologists (SLPs) focus on the cognitive and motor skills involved in communication and swallowing. SLPs (SLP Assistants) are registered with the state as well.

These therapists work closely with Special Education Teachers to provide the proper services for each child.

Welcome New Board Member

by Karen Kennan

The PACE Board of Directors welcomed a new director in June, Lisa Grisalin. Lisa is a partner / owner for Keller Williams Realty-Silicon Valley, which owns four local offices. She is a highly accomplished real estate agent, ranked in the upper 13% of her peers. Lisa primarily serves sellers with single family properties throughout the Bay Area. She is a San Jose native and has a deep understanding of the local community.

Lisa notes, “I’m excited to be a part of helping PACE become the area leader in autism services. I look forward to meeting our students, parents, and families in the coming year.” Welcome Lisa!

The PACE School: 2014 Graduates and School Dance

by Deborah McLellan

The PACE School graduated four students this June. While we will miss seeing all four students on a daily basis, we are pleased all are going on to Adult Day Programs around the Bay Area, continuing with their ongoing learning, self-expression, self-care, productive work, and interpersonal and community involvement. The weeks leading up to graduation were filled with fun and engaging events like ‘Spirit Week’ and the very popular annual school dance. Spirit week this year included a PJ day, room color day, superhero day, ‘wacky tacky’ day, and Hawaiian day. Most students showed their school spirit and dressed up according to the day’s theme.

The school dance was held at the Cory Center Auditorium on Friday, June 13th, and this year’s theme was Hawaiian luau! A great time was had by all. Teachers, aides, therapists and staff worked very hard to make the dance exciting and memorable.

It has been our utmost pleasure to work with the 2014 graduates. We wish you all the best in your future endeavors! Thank you for making PACE part of your journey.

Great Givers Provide A New Roof!

by Deborah McLellan

We are grateful to supporters of our 2013 Gala & Auction who generously donated funds so that our Miracle House could acquire a new roof this summer. The Fund-a-Need portion of the gala offered attendees an opportunity to show their support of the PACE mission, and to help us maintain exceptional standards.

The roof at Miracle House was beyond its useful life and badly in need of replacement. Administrative staff were becoming concerned that it would begin to leak if we have an exceptionally rainy winter (let’s hope!). PACE supporters to the rescue! Immediately after the gala in October, staff went to work on getting quotes and preparing the clients in the home for the project – explaining the noise and activity to come. In April, the new roof was completed at a cost of $16,000 and staff and clients can rest easy for another 20 years.

Next up – new flooring at Meadows House! Yes, there was enough money from the fund-a-need donations to provide much needed new flooring at a second group home, AND to paint the interior of The PACE School. The flooring project gets underway in September, and the school was painted in April.

Thanks again to all the PACE supporters who made the new roof at Miracle House, new floors for Meadows House, and a fresh coat of paint for our school a reality!

7th Annual Golf Classic
May 8, 2015 | Cinnabar Hills

Join us for one of our most popular events – a day of fun in the beautiful California springtime. We get a group of friendly golfers for this event, so if you’re interested, but not a pro, no worries. A great time will be had by all with hole-in-one and other contests – many with huge prizes!

How You Can Help

Pace 25th Anniversary

by Kurt Ohlfs, Executive Director

Our 25th Anniversary Gala & Auction is next month! It’s our thirteenth such event and offers PACE parents, caregivers and supporters an opportunity to join together and celebrate another year of achievements at PACE.

Taking stock of all we do to improve and enrich the lives of those living with autism is an important exercise. PACE is a VERY busy place, with constant activity and ongoing reassessment of programs offered. Our team of professional therapists, teachers, and administrators are constantly striving to improve PACE services.

As you read through this newsletter and see all the time and effort that goes into helping our students and clients realize their individual potential, please take a moment and reflect on how you see yourself and your family interacting with the PACE agency.

Do you follow us on Facebook and keep abreast of weekly events? Do you attend field trips with a classroom or residential home? Do you check the online PACE Wish List and supply much-needed supplies for your child’s classroom or home? There are so many ways to help and become engaged with our exceptional program first hand.

Attending the Gala is simply one of the most entertaining ways you can help PACE to grow and thrive.

Twenty-five years of providing services and solutions for the autism community is quite a milestone. We have learned so much, and with your support, the next 25 years will show an even greater expansion of PACE services for the Bay Area.

Through the end of the year, the Sobrato Foundation will double the amount of any new or increased donations to PACE. Please consider how you might help us reach our goal.

PACE Classroom 4, “Mini Store” Program
By Deborah McClellan

Room 4 teacher, Jillian McNamara Mehta has created an innovative life skills/vocational program for the students in her classroom. She has created a mini store with typical grocery store items, which are priced. Jillian formulated this idea from her previous work at Hillsdale High School’s autism program and modified it so that all of her students can participate at their own level.

Icons of each item are used in an exercise to match items on the shelf. Students are asked to place the item on the shelf in its proper place, and make sure it is facing forward. Students who can read are given a list of items to ‘purchase’ or ‘bag.’ A student may be asked to find 5-6 items on the shelves using a list made from icons. More advanced students are given a budget and asked to find or ‘shop’ for items and stay within their budget. They must write down and tally their selections. Some students are tasked to consider the pros and cons of items that are healthy versus items that are treats before they make their ‘purchase.’

Jillian made a visual example on how to bag the groceries and a few of her students are practicing this challenging task. Several of her students are also getting some experience straightening the items on the shelves at a local store. Because of this program one of her students has expressed interest in working at a local store, and has applied to several in his area.

The students in Room 4 also run the PACE School Store, where staff can purchase items during the lunch hour. These students take inventory, restock shelves, greet customers, run the register, and make change for PACE staff. These plus-sellers even suggest items to purchase for those who just can’t make up their mind. Items for our store are purchased at Costco and Smart and Final, where students make a weekly trip with a list of items they’ve recorded during their inventory. During these trips they also buy supplies for the school. Classroom staff challenge them to locate the aisles where a certain item is found and then to locate it on the shelf. Students can also witness firsthand the requirements involved in becoming an employee at a grocery store.

Additionally, several Room 4 students go on community outings each week to local supermarkets where they practice locating products and checking prices under the tutelage of Occupational Therapist, Danielle Boris, OTR/L, CVE. Danielle helps the students realize their OT goals.

If you’d like to help improve the Room 4 Store, Jillian is looking for realistic-looking display vegetables (NOT fruit), which are hard to find. A shopping basket would also be helpful when the students are simulating shopping. Thanks Teacher Jillian for your thoughtful and innovative life skills program!

Faces Program Accepting Clients for the Fall!
By Karen Kennan

Do you have a child with behavioral challenges? Our Faces program is now accepting clients for the fall! This behaviorally-based therapy program offers services for children ages 2-14 in our Redwood City or San Jose clinics, in your home, or at your child’s school. Under the direction of Board Certified Behavior Analysts (BCBAs), our staff provides behavior assessments, consultation, parent training and intensive behavior services.

Our Faces division operates on the principles of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA). ABA is a scientifically validated approach to understanding behavior and how it is affected by the environment. By assessing the relationship between a targeted behavior and the environment, ABA can be used to change that behavior. Under the clinical guidance of several BCBAs, Faces’ services include:

- Intensive early intervention
- Elementary school-aged intervention
- School and parent consultation
- Social development

The primary goal of the Faces program is to maximize children’s long-term levels of functioning, and to create a team approach that includes other professional providers, parents and caregivers in therapy.

Contact Maureen McNeil at (650) 622-9601, or info@facesforkids.org for full details on services offered at Faces.

Autism Research

The Center for Interdisciplinary Brain Sciences Research at Stanford University’s School of Medicine is looking for children with autism who are 13-19 years of age in order to conduct a research study which will include weekly 1-hour sessions for 12 consecutive weeks. The study will explore how brain function changes with training. Participation includes:

- Cognitive and behavioral evaluation
- Brain imaging using functional Near Infrared Spectroscopy (fNIRS). Scans are safe, non-invasive, and do not use x-rays or radiation.
- Weekly one-hour training sessions for 10 consecutive weeks and two additional visits for assessments

Participants will receive:

- Cognitive and behavioral assessments for your child including an IQ assessment and Autism Diagnostic Observation Schedule (ADOS)
- A research report of the assessment results upon request
- Free training to improve social skills as well as face processing skills
- Updates about the outcomes of the study upon request
- Payment of $525 per visit, and up to $350 for your complete participation

For more information, or to enroll in the study, please contact Ning Liu stanfordbrain@stanford.edu. Please specify that you are interested in the Autism intervention project. Please note that you must be committed to completing the full 12 weeks of the study. For general information about participants’ rights, please contact the Stanford IRB at 1-866-680-2906. http://csbr.stanford.edu.

Parents and caregivers! We’ve uploaded the first learning modules for our Project Porchlight to the porchlighteducation.org website. Project Porchlight, is an open-source free-access internet program designed specifically to provide parents and caregivers with solutions for behavioral therapy to implement at home. This project was made possible thanks to funding from the United Way.

Each Porchlight module includes a short demonstration course, showing theory and hands-on instructions, and giving parents specific and concrete examples of behavior modifications they can make in their own homes to help their child mitigate the losses from a developmental disability. The first modules are more informational, and focus on the basics of autism. Future modules will offer simple examples and direction on working with your child on behavior modification, and will cover:

- Challenging behaviors
- Eating habits
- General health and wellbeing
- Grooming

Our aim with this project is to provide you with a useful resource that can be accessed 24/7, when you need it most. E-mail info@pacificautism.org, include ‘Porchlight’ in the subject line, and we’ll put you on our contact list for updates as the program rolls out.

What Kind of Legacy Will YOU Leave?

Leave a legacy that will sustain the future by including PACE in your estate plan. Your donation will help PACE connect, support and educate by ensuring high-quality programs for children and adults with autism, now and into the future. If you have made a gift to PACE in your will or trust, please let us know so we can thank you and recognize your generosity.

Occupational and Speech Therapy Service Available at Children’s Program

PACE Children’s Services offers Occupational Therapy and Speech Therapy services for preschool through early elementary aged children. Children need not be part of our program in order to receive these services offered by our certified staff. Assessments can be performed as well as therapy.

These therapy services are offered on site at our Connections location in west San Jose. In the future, if there is an interest or need, we could offer these same services out of our Faces office in Redwood City.

Speech Therapists evaluate and treat those who are challenged in the areas of speech and language development to help students improve their overall communication skills. Occupational Therapists increase the participation in and performance of daily activities meaningful and useful to the client. Costs for OT and SLP therapy services may be covered by your insurance carrier. Although PACE is not an in-network service provider we will provide you with the invoice information and forms required for you to submit to your insurance provider for reimbursement.

If you are interested in learning more about our Speech and Occupational Therapy services, please contact Rose Stevenson at 408-551-0312. She will direct you to one of our therapists for additional information.

School Photos and Memory Book

By Dora Tao

A t the PACE School, students continue to learn and grow with each other every day. The skills that students learn at school provide a valuable foundation for ongoing learning at home and in the community. Each classroom spends time exercising in the morning and doing activities, such as food preparation, grooming, community outings, practicing social skills and academic work throughout the day.

As a way to document the wonderful memories that the students make at PACE School, we have put together a Memory Book to capture moments from the past year. It features a collection of photos taken by the staff from events throughout the year.

The Memory Book captures trips to restaurants, the Kiwanis Special Games, a visit to the Animal Assisted Happiness farm, local parks, and shopping and showcases how fun it is to be a PACE student. These trips provide an excellent opportunity for students to take their learning outside the classroom, and into the community.

The Memory Book also includes pictures of students learning in the classroom, from academics to vocational skills such as paper shredding to working together with other students in groups. In May, the school celebrated Spirit Week, which culminated in a Hawaiian themed school dance where students spent the evening dancing, enjoying snacks, doing the limbo and playing games. These festivities all preceded the School Graduation where four PACE students graduated in a ceremony that included the families, classmates, teachers and staff.

Cost for the Memory Book is $20. If you’d like to purchase a book for your family, contact Dora Tao at (408) 625-6193. It’s a great way for students and their families to look back with pleasure on the past school year. We hope the Memory Book will provide happy memories for students and their parents for years to come.
